Joplin, July 25 .- Joplin defeated Topeka Wednesday afternoon by the score of 4 to 3, after it looked as though the Cooleycrows had the game cinched, Gilbert was batted hard by his former teammates. In the first, Wescott was ounded hard by Topeka, but succeeded keeping the hits scattered. Wooley, first up for Topeka, hit for two sack and made home after two were out on a double steal.

Topeka made two more scores in the third on Wooley's single and Halla's home run. Hurlburt made a three-bagger in this inning and was put out in Guthrie was back in the game. Abbott was III and unable to fill his position. Cecil Bankhead played his first game with the locals.

Leavenworth Post: It is not because the Leavenworth team is weak, but because other teams in the Western association are stronger than the rules of the association allow. For instance, Wichita and Oklahoma City are paying double the salary limit of the association, and other teams are paying more than the "law" allows. They ought to be compelled to come down a notch or be allowed to join a higher class baseball organization. Leavenworth Post: It is not because Bennie Henderson, a Western association star of a few seasons ago when he pitched for Fort Scott and Guthrie, seems to have gotten in bad in the baseball world. Last season Bennie pitched for Portland in the Northwest league. He resigned a contract with the Portland team early last spring and refused to report unless he was given a raise. His demands were complied with but still Henderson held out for unknown reasons. After that he jumped to the Stockton, Cal., team, which is in a small outlaw league. Portland still claimed him and a few weeks ago he was secured by a scout from the Boston team who was impressed with his work. The scout offered three players to Portland for Henderson's services and Henderson signed a Boston contract. He has since, however, balked and announces that he will not go to Boston, although he signed a good contract with the Beaneaters. Now Henderson is out of baseball, at least organized baseball, as Portland has piaced him on the blacklist after he has succeeded in jumping three contracts. Bennie Henderson, a Western assojumping three contracts.

The fight in which Captain Hurlburt figured at Springfield Monday night was between Hurlburt and Tonneman, instead of Davis, as the first report from the Ozark City seemed to indicate. Such a scrap between these two participants will not occur again, however, as Tonneman has been released.

Weoley did some daring base running yesterday. In the first inning he hit Happy Wescott for a two-bagger and then after the two next men were out worked a steal to third and then stole home with the first run of the game.

Abbott was sick yesterday and Halla took his place on first, celebrating event with a home run.

Attacks McParland.

The attorney begged the pardon of the jury for dwelling so long upon the character of Orchard, but he said it was necessary in order to point out just what sort of man it was who was condemning Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone so that the jury might determine whether it would be safe even to whip a dog on such testimony as he gave, much less to hang a human being.

Mr. Darrow described McParland as a lying, deceifful scoundrel—the year darling of Colorado. Bulkeley Wells.

only law the law of might. There is no man living who can defend it. Doubtless, Governor Steunenberg felit that what he did was the only thing he could do. I am not here to discuss him or his motives, but I know that both inside and outside of labor unions, in all walks of life, there were those who denounced and always will denounce the acts of Steunenberg so long as we pretend to have a government by law in these United States."

Defending the articles printed in the Miners' magazine denouncing Steunenberg, Darrow said they were written by Ed Boyce, the first president of the Western Federation of Miners—a graduate of the smelters and not of the colleges, but an honest man with all that, and a man who had a right to express his honest views of the unwarranted herding of men in a buil pen, "surrounded by lice, Pinkerton detectives and other vermin." With fiaming words the attorney pictured to the jury the difference between the owners of the attorney pictured to the jury the difference between the owners of the mines and smelters who rolled up their wealth and bought their way into the United States senate in the blood of the men who worked for them, and the miners and smeltermen who when their days of usefulness through age, injury or disability were over, thrown out on the scrap heap to perish and de.

Darrow denounced the state's attorney for allowing William Dewey, who testified for the prosecution that he took part in the mob's attack upon the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mills, to return to Colorado unhindered after confessing to murder on the witness stand.

"Were you asleep?" he demanded of the attorneys, turning to the counsel table where they were seated; "or was your witness lyirg? Were you negligent of your duties or were you trying to deceive this jury? Are you honestly in this prosecution or is there here solae damnable conspiracy to pick up the president of the Western Federation of Miners and the secretary-treasurer of the federation and hang them by the neck for the pleasure and benefit of the Mine Owners' association? There, gentlemen of the jury, we have the real, strong, iron hand behind this pros tion. The mins owners of Colorado are pulling the wires to make you dance like puppets. They gathered these offi-cers of the Western Federation of Min-cers of the Western Federation of Miners and sent them here to be tried and hanged with Idaho to hold the bag. Idaho has a fine privilege in this trial—to pay for it. And you men of this jury will have the pleasure of working to pay up the deficiency warrants which have been issued by the state to meet the expenses of the prosecution.

"Back of the prosecution, too, you will find General Bulkeley Wells, the adjutant general of Colorado, who brought these men here. There he is with epaniets and his Harvard accent, a cruel tyrant with all his culture, for that is what culture is for—to get rid of all lumanity there is in a man."

Here again Darrow reverted to Orcharl and renewed the versatile denuncia-totally depraved.

"Before he got religion there was some spark of humanity, some spark of manhood left in the creature, but after his conversion there seems to have been none. What show of remorse, of pity, of regret, did this man make as he appeared before you to tell this awful story?"

Darrow declared that once here. When Mr. Darrow, late in the evening, finally reached the Colorado labor troubles, he grew elequent in his denunciation and his defense of the working man. He told of the eight-hour law passed by the Colorado legislature in 1899 and the fight against that law by the owners of the mines and the smelters.

"They took it to the supreme court and of course, that court declared it unconstitutional," he exclaimed. "Of unconstitutional," he exclaimed. "Of course it is unconstitutional to pass a law taking away from the Guggenheims the right to take twelve hours work out of the hide of their working men instead of eight. What are constitutions for except to be used for the rich and to destroy laws made for the poor? Gold is stronger than the pen—stronger than law, What are laws for if the rich have to obey them.

"The troops were called into Cripple Creek because old man Stuart was beaten up. I'm sorry for the old man, but he admits he was working eight hours a day—living off the fruits of what the union had worked for and was working when the union was not. If some Western Federation man had been bestern up. If they had all a lying, deceitful scoundrel—the very life of a detective, he declared, was a living lie.

"This man who has spent his life in hounding down his fellowman suddenly turns evangelist and would have you believe that Orchard is miraculously transformed into a new man lought transformed into a new man property of the victim's carcass all the golden guineas he would like to spend in Bos-

Steunenberg sowed the seeds of more strife and struggle than was ever sown by the governor of any state down to the present time.

"There was no justification for it," exclaimed the attorney. "When such a course is taken by a chief executive of a state, it is high time that all government should be submerged and the only law the law of might. There is no man living who can defend it. Doubtless, Governor Steunenberg felt that what he did was the only thing he

YI HIUNG, THE KOREAN EMPEROR WHO HAS ABDICATED; VISCOUNT HAYASHI, JAPANESE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS, AND THE ROYAL AUDIENCE HALL AT SEOUL, THE KOREAN CAPITAL.

The Korean situation is attracting greater interest in Tokyo than the question of possible war with the United States. The dispatch of Viscount Hayashi, minister of foreign affairs, to the Korean capital, Seoul, brought matters to a crisis. It was the act of the Korean emperor, Yi Hiung, who has abdicated, in sending a deputation to The Hague conference that led to the protest of Japan, as this act was deemed by the mikado inconsistent with the status of Korea as a Japanese protectorate. The royal audience hall at Seoul is a good specimen of the architectural style in vogue in this strange country. The Koreans have long been known as the Hermit Nation.
